BIG EARL'S GREASY EATS, CAVE CREEK, AZ

In a small desert town on the edge of metropolis... lives Big Earls Greasy EATS/ Cave Creek, AZ where we are proud to say: The Wild Things still rule and are still very, very WILD.

Established in 1935, the historic Art Deco style "kit" Gas Station (which now houses Big Earls) was once a thriving Standard Oil service station on a busy street in Sunnyslope, AZ. It was moved to its current location in Downtown Cave Creek in the 1950's and Became Big Earls Greasy EATS several years later. Many of these small historic gas station buildings can still be found along rugged, old highways all over the country. In 1952 the station was moved (part and parcel) to the dusty outpost of Cave Creek, AZ; The station became a gathering spot where miners, sheep herders, artists, rebels, nature lovers, outlaws and weary travelers could fuel up, grab a cold drink, shoot the breeze and find a little company. Although times have changed, this has not. In honor of those people and times long since gone, we at Big Earl's Greasy EATS chose to keep the building in primarily the same condition as when we found it. It's tiny and a little rough, we know. But isn't it fun to imagine those olden times? Over the years the building has changed hands, family to family, each with its own unique story to tell. Kim Brennan's story for starting Big Earls in 2001, and mine for working her, then buying Big Earls in 2016! My story and the one of Big Earls Greasy EATS, I hope, will be one of Good Times, Real Food and Great Friends. We use the highest quality ingredients, featuring Harris Ranch All Natural (no added hormones or antibiotics) Beef, All Natural Chicken, REAL mayo and butter and fresh baked buns. We hope you taste the difference and know that we are not fast food....we are REAL food as fast as we can. Come try us out for Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner or Drinks on the patio.

Thanks for being with us.... Love "The Dallas Family"
